The Aspermont European Equity Rotator Basket

The Actively Managed Certificate (AMC) linked to the Aspermont European Equity Rotator Basket gives investors the opportunity to invest in a dynamic, broadly diversified European equity portfolio. Since investments are made exclusively in indices, stock-specific risks are eliminated. The strategy is designed to give the manager the opportunity to add direct sector exposure by under/overweighting specific segment comparing to index weight. Target weightings are determined by both fundamental and technical aspects and are continuously reviewed and adjusted as necessary. We place emphasis on the relative strength indicator (RSI), which is a technical momentum indicator that compares the magnitude of recent gains to recent losses of the asset to identify overbought and oversold conditions.

Manager's Comment

In Europe the month also started with an initial correction that rebounded right away to finish the month on a positive note. The rotation out of big tech was not felt as much, the focus was on earnings and the kickoff to the Paris Olympics. Politics that started in the summer months were fairly quiet, and are expected to pick up after the slower summer months. In August, the European Rotator performed +1.52% with almost 0% of cash in the basket at the end of the month. The ECB and FED did not meet in August as this typically is a slower month with many on a summer break.

In August our biggest contributor to the overall performance was Health Care (+0.54% contribution), also the biggest sector overweight position was IT that we increased our overweight from +2.5% to +5%. However, this has not shown as the expected contribution until now. overweight position in Industrial Goods and Services rebounded after the initial drop at the beginning of the month. And ended the month with a strong performance in our +2.5% overweight position, Industrial Goods and Services (4.9% perf) Two thirds of the European Rotator sectors returned positive results during July. We did not adjust our exposure going into July and were quite confident with our targeted overweight positions. The biggest contributor and best performing sectors was Health Care (17.8% weight, 1.14% contribution), that rebounded led by the positive stock price of Sanofi that strove on the back of increased sales numbers in their earnings release. Construction & Materials (4.2% weights, 4.65% contribution) was the second best performing sector that profited from a very strong Vinci performance that brought in solid earnings numbers right at the end of the month. Industrial Goods & Services was one of our OW positions and this one was led by Airbus that released earnings beating analyst expectations.

Two of our overweight positions, Technology and Personal & Household goods did not perform as well in July with the drag of Chinese consumer weakness showing effects in both sectors.
